VOL. LIX: NO. 40 REDWOOD CITY, CALIFORNIA SATURDAY, JANUARY 4, 1919. ESTABLISHED 1859

LAND FREED IN ABANDONMENT OF FREMONT

In connection with the plan for the immediate abandonment of Camp Fremont, and its salvage, announcement has been made by Camp Commander Colonel Gilbert Van B. Wilkes that the right which the government now holds for the use of private lands will be relinquished immediately. A large part of the land in the vicinity of the Camp was granted to the government by the owners for use in emergency in connection with the training activities at this camp. In return the government promised to reimburse the owners for any damage to crops and property which might result from such use.

The order issued reads: "All licenses heretofore granted to the United States government to use and occupy certain lands in San Mateo and Santa Clara counties for military purposes in connection with the military cantonment at Camp Fremont are to be relinquished at an early date. A board of officers has been convened at these headquarters to take necessary action on all claims for damages arising out of the use and occupancy of such lands. Claims for damages must be supported by proper statements, in writing, which statements must be sent to the commanding officer at Camp Fremont, attention board of claims, as soon as practical, in order that the adjustment of all such claims may be made."

REDWOOD GIRL BRIDE OF FORMER FREMONT OFFICER

Miss Josephine M. Read, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Read of Redwood City, became the bride of Lorenzo R. Gillett of Sterling Colo., at St. Mary's cathedral in San Francisco Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. Father Burns performed the ceremony, which was attended only by members of the bride's family.

Philip Holden of Napa, a brother-in-law of the bride, acted as best man, and Mrs. Mazie Morley of San Francisco ,a sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

Immediately after the wedding the young people boarded an overland train for Gillett's home in Colorado where his father is engaged in the banking business and where they will make their future home.

Gillett was a lieutenant at Camp Fremont and received his honorable discharge from the service only last week.

NICHOLSON STIRS PEOPLE

The union meetings which are being held in the Bell Theatre are growing in interest wonderfully.

He is an eloquent and forceful speaker, and whether you agree with all of his opinions or not, you can't help but like him. Mr. Nicholson is one of the few great evangelists o fthe day, and it is a surprise to everyone who has heard him, how Redwood was able to get him. After his meetings here he goes to Seattle to hold meetings in the largest Presbyterian church in America, which has a membership of 5000. ALEX F. GOMEZ WRITES TO MRS. HARRY JAMIESON

Mrs. H. W. Jamieson received the following letter from her nephew, Alex F. Gomez, a few days ago. Young Gomez was severely wounded in action on November 1st, but is now recovering.

Winchester, England, Dec. 3, 1918.

—My Dear Aunt: As I have plenty of time to myself now, I will write you another letter, I wrote you one a few days ago, have you received it? I am getting along fine now and hope all you folks are the same. I am in a convalescent camp here and hope soon to return to my outfit, of which I will be very glad to do.

I am sure winter has begun over here, as it does nothing but rain all the time. My arm is getting along fine now and I will soon be myself again. I hope, barring all accidents. They have things fixed up very fine here for the soldiers. All kinds of K. C. and Y. M. C. A. shows every night and al lkinds of entertainment. The K, C's. had a fine show on Thanksgiving eve, and gave us all kinds of fun, topped off with the best of "good eats." They do fine work here as does the Red Cross.

When you answer address to my company as I expect to be back there soon and if you write here, I may not get letters and I want so much to hear of the folks at home, and of how dear Grandma is getting along.

We have moved to another camp and this afternoon we are to get a new outfit and we expect to sail for France again tomorrow. I do hope we will be put back in our own division as I am anxious to see some of the men and buddies of my own company. I suppose you are all expecting a souvenir from me. Indeed I am sorry, Aunt, but in my accident everything was taken from me. I am so sorry as I had plenty for all of yo,u, but I have two that you can look at (but cannot have) one in my head and one in my arm.

Well Aunt, give my love to all and wishing you all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, I will close.

ALEX F. GOMEZ,

FRIENDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF MRS CARL PLUMP

A large number of friends from Redwood City attended the funeral of Mrs. Carl Plump at Oakland on Monday. The large number of floral tributes was an eloquent testimonial to the worth and esteem in which the deceased held. Mrs. Plump was endeared to her many friends for her sunny disposition and gracious manner. Her two little children think their mother is only sleeping and in childish fancy believe she will awaken and come back to them. They will meet their mother no more on earth but will some day see her in the world beyond the clouds where she is lovingly awaiting them.

L. COBURN MATTER BROUGHT TO AN END

There will be no litigation over the Loren Coburn estate. All is serene among the heirs of the aged millionaire. All parties interested met at the court house last Tuesday and settled their differences. Mrs. Sarah S. Coburn was represented by Cullinan and Hickey, E. F. Fitzpatrick and John L. McNab, while the interests of Azro Coburn were looked after by Ross and Ross and Walter H. Linforth.

By the terms of the assignment filed in the recorder's office Azro Coburn, nephew of the millionaire, will inherit one-half of the estate upon the death of Coburn's invalid son, Wallace, now 62 years old. The widow gets the other half.

The first will, which was admitted to probate, left one-half of the estate to Sarah Satira Coburn, the widow, and one-half to the son. Mrs. Coburn to receive the son's share upon his death. In the event that she did not survive the son, his share was to go to Judge J. A. Bardin and C. H. Wiedemann, old friends of Coburn. Mrs. Coburn Tuesday assigned her rights in the fortune left to the son to Azro Coburn and Judge Bardin and Wiedemann did the same.

A second will, filed a few days after the first, named Azro Coburn the chief beneficiary.

When the case was called Tuesday Carl Coburn, a cousin of the dead man, and his wife, took the stand before Judge Buck and testified that the second will was signed in their presence and that they acted as witnesses, although, they said, they did not believe Loren Coburn was of sound mind at the time he made the will.

Judge John L. Hudner, who ruled in favor of the first will and ordered it admitted to probate. Shortly after his ruling the two assignments, which bore the date of December 14 were filed.

Before the case was called ,Weidemann, who is lessee of the Coburn ranch, filed an agreement in which he consented to transfer one-half interest in an option to buy the property for $375,000 to Azro Coburn for $100,000, this sum representing one-half the cost of improvements he had made on the property.

About this incompetent son evolves a strange story of a father's sorrow that had much if not all to do in shaping the unhappy life of aged Loren Coburn.

His best friends in San Mateo county tell of Loren Coburn's delight at the birth of his son and the ambitions he held for the infant's future.

Then came the discovery that the baby had been born an imbecile and must go through life with unsound mind.

To his most intimate friends, Loren Coburn then confided that life held no more happiness for him, that his hopes and dreams of years were shattered forever.

"Life holds nothing for me," he told friends in his sorrow. "I shall devote myself to accumulating a fortune."

True to his decision, Coburn set himself to heaping gold upon gold. Investments added to his fortune until from small holdings he found himself possessor of rich properties and owner of a fortune in excess of a million.

ERIC THOMPSON MARRIED YOUNG TACOMA GIRL

The following article concerning the wedding of Eric Thompson, formerly of this city, and Miss Reynolds of Tacoma appeared in a Tacoma paper recently:

Of much local interest Sunday evening was the marriage of Miss Marjorie Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grant Reynolds, to Sergeant Eric Thompson of Redwood City, California, now stationed at Camp Lewis. Services were read by Rev. J. H. Berringer of Fern Hill M. E. church. The bride was a picture of loveliness in a dainty white net gown and her flowing veil caught here and there with pink rose buds. Her bouquet was a shower of pink roses blended with delicate ferns. Miss Ellen Thompson of California attended the bride, and Lieutenant Ray Opper acted as best man. Bright blossoms and greens filled the dining room from which the bridal collation was served. Sergeant and Mrs. Thompson will make their home in California, following the discharge of the sergeant.

The "deserving Democrats" are preparing to demobolize in view of the outlook for 1920.

The ex-Kaiser will need the "proud, provocative stare" when he is arranged before that court of the nations.

Percy Buck, nephew of Judge Buck spent the week here with his uncle before journeying to his former home in Maine. Lieutenant Buck enlisted when the war broke out and was sent to Camp Lewis as a second lieutenant. Later he was promoted to a first lieutenancy for merit and ability. He was mustered out of the service some weeks ago and stopped here for a visit to his uncle before going home. The lieutenant visited here last year when he came to Camp Fremont in charge of a large body of troops from Camp Lewis.

Mr. E. B. De Groot who was general advisor of athletic activities for the Y. M. C. A. in France has severed his connection with the Y. and has returned to his nome here. After a rest of a few weeks Mr. De Groot will return to his work as director of playgrounds for the City of San Francisco.

Mrs. E. P. Heise has been in San Jose for the past two weeks as the guest o fher daughter, Mrs. W. E. Davis.

NEXT MONDAY NEW OFFICERS ASSUME OFFICE

Next Monday will mark the date of a number of changes in the San Mateo county court house. Mr. Jas. V. Neuman, who has given the people of the county the most efficient service for the past twelve years will retire from office.

Mr. Neuman has made a splendid official and it was under his supervision that over one and a half million dollars were spent on our new system of highways. Mr. Neuman carries back into private life the best wishes of hundreds of friends who wish him the greatest success in his future work.

Mr. W. H. Barg the present county recorder has also made a host of friends during his three years of office holding. Mr. Barg has been most efficient in the conduct of his official duties. His work has been handled with quickness and dispatch and those who had business with his department were treated with the greatest courtesy and consideration.

Mr. Geo. E. Seely who has been known as the marrying justice during his incumbency of four years as justice of the peace, Third Township, of San Mateo county will return to private life on Monday. Judge Seely has done his duty fearlessly and always tried to be fair and impartial. He also has a great number of friends who wish him success in whatever line of work he may enter.

Mr. Geo. Kneese who will assume the county surveyorship has been city engineer of South San Francisco, San Bruno and Daly City for several years and is a most estimable young man. He is well equipped both by education and experience to give the county excellent service.

Mr. T. C. Rice, recorder elect, is too well known in Redwood City to need commendation at our hands. He is a man who has been known as one of our best citizens for the past 25 years. During most of his residence here he has been in the contracting business but for the past three years he has been teacher of plaster and cement working classes at the Lick Polytechnic school, San Francisco. He will make a splendid official.

Mr. Raymond Griffin incoming justice of the peace has resided in Redwood City for eleven years. He is a graduate of Sequoia Union High School and has been in the insurance business since graduation. He has also acted as a notary public with his office at the court house. Judge Griffin has always been an ardent ball-fan and has managed the ball teams for Redwood City for several years. He is extremely popular with the young element of this section and has kept most of the boys in the service posted as to home town doings. Judge Griffin can be counted on as a faithful, competent justice.

All of the other county officials will retain their positions. Judge Buck did not have to run for re-election but will go before the people in two years. He has never had serious opposition and has held his office 28 years. P. P. Chamberlain is the "noblest Roman or them all." He has been in the harness as treasurer for forty years and it is doubtful if there is a more popular or efficient official in the state. Jos. H. Nash, county clerk, Roy W. Cloud, superintendent of schools come next in length of service. They have both held office for twelve years. Ambrose McSweeney, tax collector, and Franklin Swart, district attorney, have each eight years to their credit. John J. Shields, auditor and M. Sheehan, sheriff have each served their constituents one full term. D. P. Flynn, assessor and Dr. W. A. Brooke, coroner and public administrator were both appointed officers and so will night and all kinds of entertainment vice on Monday.

The Board of Supervisors will be the same. Dr. C. V. Thompson of Pescadero and William Brown of San Mateo were re-elected and John MacBain of Menlo Park, Thomas Hickey of South City and Joseph M. Francis of Halfmoon Bay are the hold-over members who will be up for re-election in two years.

It is probable that no county in California has a better set of county officials. Every one is competent and conducts his office well. They have the confidence of the people and merit it.

WILSON CARRIES SPIRIT OF AMERICA TO EUROPE

With President Wilson in Europe walks the spirit of James Monroe. The era of good feeling that once swept the soul of America in the good days of old now sweeps the souls of the far lands across the seas.

In the veins of the American soldiers who now sleep their last sleep in France and the fields of Flanders flowed the blood of every nation under the sun.

If President Wilson were to call the nations above our dead in the red fields where they perished he could say to them: "There are our dead who died for you, and the blood they shed was the blood that first flowed from your own veins. They are ours, but they were also yours. They died to make you brothers, even as they were brothers."

This may not be done and those words may not be said, but over yonder no one can fail to understand. The thought is in their hearts. Its truth and the knowledge of it burns in their souls.

Like the Angel of the Annunciation is America. She has brought the glad tidings of great joy.

Gone are the ancient hates; dead as Babylon are the old suspicions. The world is born anew. In new visions and with chastened hearts the nations take up again their burdens that now shall be light for the first time in all the ages.

PA'S OLD UNIFORM

Representative Norman J. Gould, of New York has introduced a bill to permit all non-commissioned officers and enlisted men to retain as their personal property ,without cost to them, whatever clothing they may have in their possession at the time of their discharge. This goes the War Department one better, for the department has recently ruled that they may retain their uniforms for four months after discharge, when those uniforms must be turned in. There is a good deal of sentiment attached by the soldier to the uniform he wore in battle. As he grows old he likes to take it from its cedar box or camphor ball wrappings, show it to the kids, or his friends, and fight his battles over again. Who has not seen the veteran of the Civil War gaze lovingly on the uniform he wore at Gettysburg, Antietam, or Bull Run? An instance is recalled of an old Confederate veteran who came to Richmond to attend a reunion there some years ago. He brought his old gray uniform with him, and when he unpacked it to don for the parade, what was his horror to find a sizable mothhole in the shoulder of the coat. He posttively refused to wear it for fear someone might remark he had been shot in the back by a Yank. The return of a uniform to the Government after four months is a picayune rule. It would promptly go into storage and remain until the moths and mice had chewed it to tatters. As a memento of the war it would serve a high purpose. Should not Gould's little bill go through unhindered?

OBJECT LESSON

Most of the German people were never truly informed of the frightfulness of war as it was exemplified by the sensual and conscienceless hordes who ravished and plundered Belgium. There should be made a series of moving pictures of some of the tragedies there wrought and the Germans should be required to see them with their own eyes in order that they might judge what they themselves were spared and what they merit in reprisal. No exaggeration would be necessary, because none would be possible; but the dwellers of Germany should be made to understand some of the horrors of war when it is carried to the homes and firesides of a defenseless people.

LIBERTY FOREVER

The government will still stick to the name of Liberty Loans in future campaigns for the sale of public bonds. The title has a recognized advertising value that is worth millions to start with. Which shows that advertising is understood and appreciated by the powers that be. Also it might be said in passing that there is more liberty in the world now than there was a year ago.

HANDLE WITH GLOVES

Not only will baseball come back stronger than ever, but in New York Illinois and other states having large cities there is a disposition to revive the boxing game to the extent of having decision bouts under state regulation. The soldiers were always eager for glove contests, both as spectators and participants, and they will wish to have something of the kind going on when they are back on the home lot.

THEN AND NOW

It is recalled that when Woodrow Wilson was an inoffensive college professor he toured a part of France on his bike. It was doubtless a notable and interesting vacation for him at the time but look what France is doing now! It indicates the possibilities of a world in which kings are being closed out below par.

SOME RECENT REAL ESTATE SALES IN THE COUNTY

For a client to John V. Souza, 450 acres of land comprising the McMale and McMullin ranches on the San Gregorio Road below La Honda. Mr. Souza already owns about 1500 acres adjacent to the property, so that he now has 2000 acres of what will ultimately be vegetable land similar to that upon the hills just outside of San Francisco.

For the P. J. Martin Estate to Ira B. Langdon and Thos. H. Nicholas, seven acres in the Alcorn Tract just across San Francisquita Creek from the city limits of Palo Alto, and to C. L. Smeltzer and W. G. Smeltzer eight acres in the same tract. This entirely closes the P. J. Martin estate Co's. interests, which have been held by the family since the first subdivision of Palo Alto. At that time not only was the Alcorn Tract purchased by them but several blocks in the city along University avenue.

At Los Altos the company has sold for Arthur Thornton to Dr. Chas. Shattinger a residence and several acres of land upon Fremont avenue.

Along the State Highway for E. M. Clack to Minnie A. Brokaw acreage in the Curtner Tract. The purchaser is already building his home upon the premises.

In North Palo Alto for G. F. Cleese to A. Sonnicksen a residence and lot No. 24.

In Palo Alto for Emaline Koontz to Jacob J. Geng, a residence and several lots on Bryant street near Everett avenue.

For a client to Sophie Patton a residence upon Waverly street near Homer avenue.

The company reports a decided increase in inquiry for the purchase both of country lands and local residence property, and there is every prospect that the market for real estate will be active during 1919.

CALIFORNIA AND CALIFORNIANS

BY GENERAL JOHN F. SHEEHAN

More Early Pioneers Who Crossed The Plains.

In December, 1827, Sylvester Pattie and his 15-year-old son ventured west from Kentucky and having reached the junction of the Gila and Colorado rivers (yuma,) made their way along the Gulf of California and sought shelter and sustenance at the Mission of Santa Catalina in Baja, California.

As the Mexicans were fearful of invasion by Americans Pattie and son were sent to Governor Echeandia at San Diego, as in the case of the Smith party. The elder Pattie died there within a month, but the boy was kindly cared for and protected by a sister of Pio Rico (later on Governor.)

William and Isaac Wolfskill and Jean Luis Vignes reached Los Angeles in 1830. William Wolfskill was the father of horticulture in California and succeeding generations of Wolfskills in the southern counties and Solano have gained renown in that line. Vignes paid special attention to viticulture and the State is indebted to that intelligent pioneer for the propagation of the vine, started in earlier days by the Mission Fathers.

Dr. John Marsh was the first American settler along the San Joaquin, having arrived there in 1835. In 1837 he purchased the Los Meganos rancho on the plain north of Mount Diablo and built a substantial adobe residence thereon. He had no white neighbors until 1847. Dr. Marsh was murdered September 24, 1856, by two Mexicans, who escaped. For many years Dr. Marsh's place was a hospitable retreat for travelers from Sutter's Fort or over the mountains. The Bidwell-Bartleson-Chiles party of 1841 found the first resting place there after having crossed the Sierras by way of Walker's Pass.

"Don Timothea" Murphy settled near San Rafael in 1829 and obtained ample acres of land in Marin county. He was so noted for hospitality that he deservedly bore the title of "Don."

The most important party of immigrants who crossed the plains and Sierras into California was organized in Independence, Missouri, in 1841, and left the Missouri on May 8th of that year. It consisted of 36 persons, among whom were Captain J. B. Bartleson, John Bidwell, Joseph B. Chiles, Chas. M. Weber, Joseph Belden, Chas. Hopper, Green McMahon, Talbot H. Green, Benj. Kelsey and wife, Andrew Kelso and Robert Hichman. Nearly all of the above named left their impress upon the history of California. John Bidwell became the most prominent in public life. In the early '40's he became clerk to Captain John A. Sutter at the Fort, and throughout his long career in California was a noted man of affairs. Mr. Bidwell obtained large holdings of land in Butte county and settled at Chico rancho (in Spanish "Little Ranch"). In 1864 he was elected a member of Congress from the northern district and while at Washington made the acquaintance of Miss Kennedy whom he brought home with him as his wife. Mrs. Bidwell, who has outlived her husband, has proven to be one of the most brilliant and enterprising women in all California. General Bidwell became a Brigadier General of State Militia and in 1887 was the choice for Governor of a large proportion of the Republicans of California, but was defeated for nomination by a few votes in the convention. In 1875 he was the nominee for Governor of the Independent Republicans (or "Dolly Vardens"), losing to Wm. Irwin, Democrat. General Bidwell subsequently ran for Governor as a Prohibition candidate and was also nominee for President of the United States of the Prohibition party. He left a very valuable estate in Butte county.

Coloney Joseph B. Chiles started west on a hunting trip from Missouri in 1836, and in 1841 came on to California with the Bartleson party, as mentioned above. He returned to Missouri in 1843 and brought back with him his own family and the family of George C. Yount. Colonel Chiles made the vicinity of St. Helena his future home until he died in the early '80's. In 1844 he secured the Catacula grant of 8545 acres in Chiles Valley, Napa county, from Governor Micheltorena. His oldest daughter, Mary, who crossed the plains in 1843, became the wife of Jerome C. Davis, of Yolo county, and died recently in Sacramento. Colonel Chiles left many descendants, one son having been Mayor of St. Helena. His youngest daughter, Dixie, is the wife of Altert Bell of St. Helena, and they have three beautiful, accomplished daughters, two of them graduates of Stanford University.

Captain Chas. M. Weber was the founder of Stockton. In 1844 one Wm. Gulnac secured the grant known as "El Campo de los Franceses" or French Camp, containing nearly 50,000 acres, he having arrived here in '34 and Mexicanized. In this he was financed by Weber, who finally acquired title to all of the grant. After the discovery of gold Weber went to the "diggings" in El Dorado county, and took quite a fortune out of Weber Creek near Placerville. In 1848 he employed Major R. P. Hammond of the regular army to survey and lay out Stockton. The first home built in the Slough City was owned by Joseph Bussell.

Josiah Belden became one of the leading men of San Francisco and San Jose, and was Mayor of the latter city.

Green McMahon became a prominent farmer in Solano county and owned Bartlett Springs. He married the widow of a son of George C. Yount.

The town of Vacaville in Solano county was settled in 1842 by Manuel Baca, who came from New Mexico.

Captain John A. Sutter leased the Marysville part of his great grant to Theo. Cordus, who named the place "New Maclenburg." His wife was named Mary and subsequently the settlement was called Marysville.

Peter Lassen settled on Deer Creek in Tehama County in 1845. Mount Lassen and Lassen county were named after him.

Nathan Coombs may be considered the "Father of Napa City." He came to California in 1843 and later secured 80 acres of the Oribi Napa Rancho upon which the pretty city is located. The grant was originally ceded to Nicholas Higuerra by Governor Chicó. Mr. Coombs also secured a portion of Gordon Valley together with Wm. Gordon, whose sister he married. Nathan Coombs was one of the most enterprising of the early pioneers and left descendants who are a credit to him. His son Frank L. Coombs, a prominent lawyer of Napa, has been Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, a member of Congress and United States Minister to Japan. His grandson, Nathan Coombs, was recently district attorney of Napa county. A daughter was married to the late Hon. John M. Colgan, Member of Congress in 1871-1872.

William Knight, one of the Bear Flag party, got his grant at Knight's Landing, Yolo county, in 1844, through his marriage to a Mexican lady. His son-in-law, the late Chas. F. Reed, was a West Pointer and how near he came to being Governor of California is told in the chapter on Governors.

Martin Murphy came across the plains in 1844 with his wife and several children. He became the most prominent landholder in the Santa Clara Valley and owned several fine grants in San Luis Obispo county. His two sons, Bernard D. and General Patrick W., were State Senators, and Bernard was in 1894 a prominent candidate for Governor. General Murphy owned the beautiful Santa Marguerita rancho. Martin Murphy and wife also left two daughters, Mrs. Richard Carroll of San Francisco and Mrs. Argues of San Jose. It was the Murphy party who named the Truckee after an Indian guide.

Samuel Brannan, the Morman Pioneer

Among the Argonaut class of American Californians no one is more worthy of special mention than Samuel Brannan, a pioneer among pioneers. He was essentially of the class of young men who build up new countries, and in the right direction, for when the government of California under the American regime was in course of formation no one battled more strenuously to direct it in the right course than "Sam" Brannan, as he was then and always thereafter familiarly called. Within a few weeks after Captain Montgomery raised the American flag over Portsmouth Square, Brannan sailed in through the Golden Gate on the ship Brooklyn from New York via. Cape Horn, bringing with him a colony of several hundred industrious Mormons. He brought a printing outfit and published the first newspaper in San Francisco, the California Star. He was one of the first at the mining diggings, the first to denounce the "hounds" and to advocate the Vigilance Committee of 1851 In fact he was at the front in every movement for the promotion of good government and business enterprises. The first American Governor of California, Peter H. Burnett says of Brannan in his "Recollections," published before the '80's: "He was the first man in California to speak in public against the introduction of slavery; he was the father of the Pacific Bank. With all his faults he has many noble qualities and has done much for California." Mr. Brannan was an intense Union man and was one of the Presidential Electors in 1864 and cast his vote for Abraham Lincoln. In the Cause he was enthusiastic even to eccentricity. A writer of war times relates: "On February 25th came advice of the capture of Charleston, and that the Stars and Stripes were again floating over Fort Sumpter. Salutes of 100 guns were ordered fired by the government at all military posts, and every town in the state made a similar salvo. Samuel Brannan, then a wealthy citizen of San Francisco, started a celebration on Montgomery street, at his own expense, that caused the excitement in that city to center in his vicinity. He secured a battery to fire a salute that in a few minutes broke show windows and hotel window glass on Montgomery street to the amount of $2500, which he paid enthusiastically." On another occasion when a premature report of the capture of Richmond was received Brannan started out to "take in" the city. At every saloon visited champaign was opened at Brannan's expense. He retained the corks, placed them in his sack coat pockets, and next morning the number of corks was the only evidence he had of the amount he had spent in the celebration." Sam Brannan was not at that time a Mormon Elder. In the early '50's he was considered the wealthiest man in California yet he died comparatively poor, his heirs having but little more than a claim to one million acres of land in Sonora, Mexico, then and now in possession of the Yaqui Indians. He owned the town site of Calistoga and surrounding country, and in the '70's established a large hotel on the springs grounds, conducted by his nephew Alex. Badlam. Samuel Brannan was born in Saco, Maine, in 1819, and died at Escondido, San Diego county, May 5, 1889. Mrs. J. W. Winans, a niece, yet resides in Calistoga.

SAN CARLOS ITEMS

Mr. Karl Schweizer with the Coefield Manufacturing Co., San Francisco, was here last Sunday looking over the San Carlos properties with the view of buying a home site. He was very favorably impressed, so much so that he expects to bring Mrs. Schweizer down next Sunday to help him choose from among the many beautiful locations. Mr. Schweizer has been living in Richmond since the boom of some years ago; and while he has enjoyed the advantages of the enhanced value in his investment but like many others he has grown weary of crossing the fogy bay every morning. And like many others he has noted the marked advantages San Carlos has over all other towns that is within forty minutes ride between here and the metropolis, in that we still have choice sites either on the hillside or in the flat that are within two to five minutes walk to and from the train, and he has also remarked our natural drainage, a gradual decline from the foot hills to the bay by which we never have any standing pools after a storm.

Private Edward Alves who has recently been honorably discharged from Battery C, 60th U. S. F. A., while that continugent was located at Camp Jackson, South Carolina, is here for a visit with his sister, Mrs. J. W. Alves. Young Alves has enjoyed the work of serving Uncle Sam so hugely that he intends to enlist in the regular army as soon as he has had sufficient vacation to permit him to visit his relatives in various parts of the state.

Frank Quinn had barely arrived at San Diego upon his return from his visit home until he was granted another furlough and was permitted to come home on the Lark last Sunday to remain over the advent of the New Year.

ANITA NOLAN SUES FOR DIVORCE, EXTREME CRUELTY

Mrs. Anita Z. Nolan, through her attorney, J. J. Bullock, has brought a suit for divorce in the superior court against her husband, James E. Nolan, on the ground of extreme cruelty. The Nolans were married in San Francisco September 27, 1908 and separated on December 2, 1918 after living together for a little over ten years. They have no children. Plaintiff asks for attorney fees in the sum of $100, costs $20 and $40 for support and maintenance.

If you wish to see a dandy, neat store, just call at the Redwood City Creamery, 309 Main street, and get your bread, ice cream, candy etc., of the new proprietor, Mrs. Amy Estelita.

TOTAL WAR STAMP SALES HERE WERE $105,000.00

In the War Savings Stamp campaign for 1918, which ended on Tuesday night, Redwood exceeded its quota by over $5,000. Figures given the Times-Gazette by Jos. H. Nash, chairman of the local War Savings and Thrift Stamp committee, shows total sales for the twelve months of $105,405.30. Of this amount $65,600 was sold by the local postoffice, $29,260 by the First National Bank and $10,545.30 by the Bank of Italy. Redwood City's quota was $100,000. It was originally $70,000. When the pledge system was inaugurated last summer, the quota was raised to conform to the amount already subscribed together with the total amount of pledges.

The employes of the Frank Tanning Company have played an important part in helping Redwood City raise its quota in the War Savings Stamp Campaign. According to figures given Chairman Nash by Henry Steinberger, manager of the big plant who is in charge of the stamp sale there, the men during the year just ended, have purchased $13,500 worth of certificates, an average of over $290 a week.

When the War Savings Stamp pledges were made last summer, the men at the tannery had already purchased over $5000 worth of certificates. They pledged themselves for another $5,000 for the rest of the year. The report of Steinberger shows that they exceeded this amount by over $3,000. The men entered into the spirit of the thrift campaign with the greatest of enthusiasm, and with one or two exceptions the pledges were faithfully kept up by the employes to the end.

That the War Savings Stamps is looked upon as a splendid investment is attested by the fact that Frank Marcus, one of the vice-presidents of the Frank Tanning Company, has himself invested over $1200 worth of the certificates and this in addition to the large number of Liberty Bonds he has purchased.

Another local industry that has made a splendid showing in the War Savings Stamp campaign is the National Magnesia Manufacturing Company. Elmer S. Hurrell, superintendent at the plant, was in charge of the stamp sale and his report to Chairman Nash this week shows the total purchases of the 55 employes and the members of the firm during the year amounting to $4,475.00. All the men kept up their pledges with the exception of four and these were unable to do so on account of having oversubscribed on Liberty Bonds.

The public school children also helped largely to swell the sale of War Stamps in Redwood. The record of the Central, Washington and Lincoln schools, as announced in last week's Times-Gazette, for the year was $10,589.95, an average of $15 for each of the 665 pupils.

Mrs. Helen Bliss Sullivan, beloved mother of Mrs. Bernard M. Breeden, passed away at her home in San Francisco, Monday, after an illness of little more than a week. She suffered from a heart attack and apparently was on the road to recovery when she had a relapse and passed away. Her husband, Judge J. F. Sullivan, is the president of the San Francisco Bar Association. The funeral on Wednesday was largely attended. The mass, for the repose of her soul, at St. Bridgid's church, was celebrated by Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, an old friend of the deceased.

Mrs. Sullivan was a kindly and charitable woman beloved by a large circle of acquaintances and admired by all for her numerous good qualities of mind and heart. She often visited her daughter here. Mrs. Breeden and her family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

Did You notice this "mistake"?

That thousands of people throughout the State are careful readers of the weekly announcements of this large banking institution, was evidenced recently thru the appearance of an advertisement in which a Bank of Italy pass book was shown. An "error" (shown above) appeared in the teller's calculation.

Whether or not it was made purposely is immaterial. The important fact is that the "error" was the subject of comment and interest all over California—and we are still hearing about it.

Study our advertising and you'll find it helpful and educational.
